6. Nodongja Sinmun Sa (Laborer Newspaper Company)

During 1954, the Nodongja Sinmun Sa published books and posters on production techniques, experiences of the Stakhanovites of the USSR, collections of essays on the struggle of labor heroes and innovators in production and various literature and lecture materials for the trade-union workers.

It also published "Our Experiences Collection," a collection of scientific and technical information, production experiences of laborers, and innovative suggestions and experiences. "Our Experiences Collection" consists of the following essays: Naul Chikchang Saenghwal (My Workshop Life); Uridul Chungsan Kyongjaeng (Our Competition To Increase Production); Uri Chik-changnae Saengsan Munhwa (Work Conditions in Our Factory); Uridul Chakop Hapnihwa (Rationalization of Work in Our Factory); Uridul Cholyak T'ujaeng (Our Struggle to Economize); and Chil Chohun Chep'um (Good Quality Products).

The purpose of these books is to popularize new methods and experiences of the laborer gained from innovations of each factory, mine, and enterprise. These books contain an "Our Knowledge" column which explains in an interesting and easy way the necessary scientific and technical information on the practical production process, and which contains interesting drawings appearing serially.

The above collection also contains essays entitled Uridul Chakop Pangbop (Our Work Methods) and Uri Ch'angui Koan (Our Original Suggestions), which present in detail the new experiments in mechanization and rationalization, new work methods, and the original innovative ideas of laborers and technicians in their work.
